A Prayer.

Our Father and our God, we ask for no immunity from the common lot of men, but rather that we may be enabled to glorify that lot. Help us so to live that from us may be carried, as chaff before the wind, the possible disappointment and emptiness and bitterness of life, and that in our hearts may be richly garnered its possible strength and dignity and joy. Amen.

MacAdam on Highland avenue, were in District Court at East Cambridge on Saturday. Crowley received a sentence of one year and Giracca was sentenced to six months in jail. The two appealed their cases. According to the police, both men admitted that they had come out here with no good intent and confessed to the attempt to enter the MacAdam home.

The third lecture in the course being given by Miss Crook, under the direction of the dramatic committee of the Arlington Woman's Club, was held Monday afternoon at 128 Pleasant street. Miss Crook gave the class a most delightful afternoon. By request she discussed two of the one act plays that have been accepted by Prof. Baker of Harvard and were written by members of the "47 Work shop of Harvard," and gave some of the requirements necessary in a play to have them accepted by the professor. The plays read were "The play room," a fantasy written by Doris F. Holman; also a tragedy, "The Clod," written by Lewis Beach. An added interest was given the afternoon by the informal questions asked in regard to some of the recent plays seen in Boston, which brought out a discussion participated in by some of the members in the class.

The Philathea Society of the First Baptist church, sat down to a delicious supper at seven o'clock, Monday evening, in the banquet hall of the church the committee on this occasion being Mrs. Harriet Barnes and Mrs. Warren A. Pearce. The snow storm interfered but little with the attendance, the tables being well filled. Dr. Nathan E. Wood was the guest of honor and after supper, moved among his former young people with a hand shake here, a happy word there, in his usual frank and genial manner. The business meeting of the society followed the supper, in the chapel of the church, to which all repaired at eight o'clock. Miss Nellie Clare, the president, presided in a graceful way, dispatching the routine reports in a business like manner. On motion of Mrs. Nathan E. Wood, a postal card shower was sent Mrs. Henry S. Potter, now ill.

at the Albany Hospital. The speaker of the evening was Miss Helen Monroe, recently returned from Japan, where she was a missionary. Her story was of personal experiences, which included the meeting of Miss Olive Hastings, sister of Mr. George A. Hastings of Robbins road, who is now in Japan doing mission work. Mrs. Annabelle Parker Wood sang two groups of songs, including "A Love Note," by Rogers; "An April Girl;" "Under The Rose," by Fisher; "Come Sweet Morning," by A. L. Mrs. Harold L. The election comes on Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, and the polls will be open from 5:30 to 8:30 P. M.

Many Arlingtonians embraced the opportunity of hearing Sir Oliver Lodge at his lecture at Symphony Hall on Tuesday evening. Sir Oliver reminds one more of a college professor than a lecturer. His facts as given were concise and convincing, as one having authority to tell of what he knew to be a certainty. He hoped that all who do not believe in the power to communicate with the departed, would "keep an open mind and wait."

The engagement of Mrs. Mary Adena Whipple of Brookline to Harold H. Marden of Arlington, a Boston banker and well known golfer, is announced by Loring Q. White, father of Mrs. Whipple. Mr. Marden is connected with the firm of A. B. Leach & Co., 97 Milk street, and belongs to the Belmont Country Club. During the war he was in the transport service of the army. Mrs. Whipple is the widow of Howard F. Whipple of Boston.

William Parker Wood was the host at an informal dance held at his home 128 Pleasant street, Thursday evening, from seven until ten o'clock. The occasion was in celebration of his fifteenth birthday. Music for the dancing was furnished by Mr. Jack Hutchinson and his associate drummer, N. J. Hardy supplied the ices which were served from a prettily appointed table at the end of the hall. Mr. Fiske Brown, of the Harvard Varsity football squad and Parker's Camp Becket councilor, was the guest of honor. At ten o'clock the guests took leave, wishing the young man "many happy returns."

O'Dowd, County President, Mrs. Logue, State vice-president Harold, Miss Annie Connolly, John Colber, commander of Arlington Post of the American Legion; Edward A. Geary, grand knight of Arlington Council V. of C., John F. Donnelly and Maurice Kelley. The Arlington Historical Society will meet in the vestry of the First Parish church, on the evening of Monday, January 26, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Edward C. Turner will be the speaker and will tell "The Story of a Hero of the Merchant Marine Service of the Past," a tribute to the memory of Capt. Chas. B. Pendleton who was Mrs. Turner's uncle.

That there may be ample accommodation for grown people, Mr. Walter A. Robinson has arranged for repeating the lecture announced for Feb. 8, in the school halls at later dates. For this reason, pupils in the schools should not apply for tickets for Feb. 8. Tickets to the capacity of the hall will be given out, but no more.

January 25, being the last Sunday in the month, will be observed as "Young people's day" at the Universalist church. The young people will have entire charge of the morning service, including the responsive reading, scripture and prayer. In place of the regular sermon, four addresses will be given on the different phases of Young people's work,—devotional, social and missionary, with relation to the training received through these branches for future work in the church. The hour is 10:30, and the public, especially young people, are cordially invited.

The employees of the Arlington Gas Light Company met in the appliance display room at the plant on Grove street, Monday evening, and organized an association, to be known as the Arlington Gas Employees' Association. The meeting was preceded by a bountiful supper which was served under the direction of Anthony Lopez, J. Johnson, D. Shea, Manuel Lopez, assisted by Mrs. Frank A. Woodhead, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hatch. The meeting which followed was filled with much to interest those present, the good of the service being under discussion at some length. It was voted at this meeting to hold a ball in the near future and also hold a bowling match between the young ladies of the offices and the men of the company. At this time the manager of the company, Frank A. Woodhead, thanked the employees for the present of a beautiful watch at Xmas time, this gift coming from the employees. At the close of the business meeting Frank (Stout) Ahern entertained with songs and dances and David Scannell contributed vocal selections. A social hour closed the evening, ice cream and cake being served.

The next meeting of Post 36, G. A. R., will be held in G. A. R. Hall, on the afternoon of Saturday, Jan. 24th, at 2 o'clock. It is absolutely necessary that a full attendance be present.

The members of the bowling team of the Public Works Department of the town and the team of the Schwamb Factory, had a hot match on the Arlington Alleys, Wednesday night, the former winning out 1373 to 1274. Wilson of the winning team was the high roller, with a single string of 150 and a three string total of 343.

Thomas D. Kennedy, at the earnest solicitation of a great many of his friends, has consented to run again for the office of Board of Public Works. Mr. Kennedy has filled this office efficiently and the town now has one of the smoothest working boards that it has ever had. It is the wish of his associates that Mr. Kennedy continue in the office.

The bowling teams of the Arlington Heights Baptist church and the Spring Hill Baptist church of Somerville, rolled an interesting match on the Arlington Alleys, Wednesday night. The regulation match, three strings and the total, resulted in a tie and an extra string was rolled, the Arlington Heights team being victorious and thus winning the entire match.

Horace, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Homer, fractured one of his legs, just above the ankle while coasting on Addison St., Saturday of last week. He was taken by one of his little friends down the hill for a pleasure ride, but it proved anything but that for the little fellow who was thrown against a tree, with the result of a broken leg and a bad bruise on the head.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Fellows left town for a southern trip, combining business with pleasure. Mr. Fellows will visit the cotton mills at Richmond, Va., and Columbia, S. C. A sojourn of a week will be enjoyed at "Bon Air," Augusta, Ga., and the trip home will be through the mountains of Tenn. Mr. and Mrs. Fellows will be away two weeks.

Scoutmaster, Harvey H. Bacon has made arrangements whereby the birds will be taken care of while the snow remains on the ground. Mr. Bacon would like to get in touch with persons who have scraps, feed chaff or the like about their place, especially those who have stables. The Boy Scouts will call for the donations of feed, or they can be left at the home of Mr. Bacon, 9 Willow place. His telephone number is 1898-W.

Interest is already evinced in a series of lectures on the preparation of citizenship, the first speaker for which is Mrs. True Worthy White, well known former president of the Arlington Woman's Club, also in connection with her work in the literary department of the National Federation of Woman's clubs. She is now secretary of the Educational committee of the Mass. Equal Suffrage League. This lecture is given under the auspices of the Arlington Equal Suffrage League, and occurs Thursday afternoon, Jan. 29, at 3 o'clock, at the Junior High school hall. All the women of Arlington are not only invited but urged to attend this lecture.

A local paper like Arlington Advocate, that goes into a large majority of the homes in the town and is perused by all the grown people in the home, is in a far different position regarding local affairs than any city daily, however large its circulation in the town. For this reason we make only this reference to sensational stories in Boston papers regarding the detention of a school teacher, suspected of and charged with theft in one of the schools. For two years or more petty thieving has been going on in at least two school buildings, with a money loss of over one hundred dollars, beside considerable quantities of clothing. It was this condition that led to the placing of the school papers. When all the facts are available, the true story will have a place in these columns.

The street car service has been anything but satisfactory during the last week, delays of anywhere from twenty minutes to half an hour being frequent. On Tuesday morning continued on page 8.

RIOT OF EXTRAVAGANCE.
Country's Safety Depends Upon Women's Attitude During Present Extraordinary Period, Says Mrs. William Ogden Wade of Washington.

When millionaires are manufactured overnight and the whole country is indulging in a riot of extravagance there is reason to fear for the future of the people, said Mrs. William Ogden Wade from the platform of the Public Library Hall last Saturday. She was addressing a meeting of the New England Home Economics Association, at which Mrs. Schuyler F. Herron presided. Miss Edith C. Strauss, director of women's activities in the Department of Justice, was announced to speak but her plans were changed by the authorities in Washington, and her co-worker, Mrs. Wade, was assigned to fill Boston engagements.

After reviewing the conditions following in the wake of the World War, the speaker said that the amazing inflation of money and the great burden of taxation are natural results. It will take a long time to restore normal conditions, but the temptation to profiteer will be a menace just as long as women are willing to pay tremendous prices for luxuries. She said she did not like to preach fear, but everyone knows that such a situation cannot go on without serious result, in the form of a financial panic, which is likely to be apparent before another winter, she asserted, unless some step is taken.

Women at this critical time in the nation's life must "hold steady" said Mrs. Wade. It is natural for those who have been poorly paid to want to spend money for tangible things which they have had to do without, but it is not merely the average wage-earner who is spending too much, when it is known that sable coats sell for $85,000. Neither are women the sole offenders, for men appear in the same state of mind.

These things suggested by the speaker as a definite programme worked out by the department she represents: Stop buying unnecessary things; buy wisely; remember the lessons of the conservation period, and feel a personal responsibility in combatting the tendency toward extravagance in living. There is a feeling which may be likened to resentment on all sides, and if this flame can be utilized in arousing the people to buy only necessities, much of the industrial unrest will be lessened. There were said to be 16,000 paid agitators going up and down the land in the endeavor to stir up strife. Their efforts will be futile if each individual will look the situation squarely in the face and see his duty clearly.

In explaining the plan of co-operation Mrs. Wade said that it means the use of the combined forces of existing agencies, with a State chairman, a local head for each town fair-price committee and for each city ward. The object is to arouse the public to more careful buying and the registration of complaints of excessive charge.

Miss Antoinette Roof spoke briefly on the co-operation necessary between the home, the school and the community, and the meeting separated into three groups, of which she led one; Miss Lucy H. Gillette of the League for Preventive work another, which interested social workers, and Miss Elizabeth Jenkins of the Essex Agricultural School the third, which attracted the teachers.

WHO SHALL BE OUR NEXT PRESIDENT?

Who shall be president of the United States after Wilson goes out, is the question which thoughtful patriots are trying to solve. It is assumed that Wilson will go out, which both the Democrats and Republicans devoutly wish. No man could loom so large in the public eye without destroying his chance of re-election, even if he were available. But no man has ever yet served three terms in succession, and it is doubtful if any one ever will. The unwritten law is against it.

The Democrats are not happy in their president, although Mr. Wilson has given them great distinction. We may or may not approve his course, that much must be confessed.

Yet the administration has thrown the nation into confusion, until we do not quite know where we are. Obviously there has been an effort to harmonize warring elements in the interest of party perhaps more than in the interest of business or the working man. The times are trying, and good men have found it difficult to steer a straight course; and yet anything, except injustice, is better than wabbling. Had the administration been more decided in some things, we should not be "rocked in the cradle of the deep" just now. There can be no question about our being rocked—even as a ship in a storm.

Nor would a re-election of a Democrat bring us into calm waters. Even a rough sea lasts after the wind goes down. But may we expect anything better from the Republicans? A new deal furnishes hope anyhow. Republicans would not take over Democratic blunders; nor hold themselves bound to carry out Democratic policies. And a change in the White House would be a large factor in the problem.

Let no one suppose that we believe the Republican party faultless or beyond blundering. They have made mistakes enough, but they have achieved great success also. The country owes much to the Republican party. Who will be the next president? A Republican of course; but who? Not the Governor of Massachusetts, however much we might desire it. Any vote thrown for him in the Convention can only be complimentary.

It is doubtful whether any soldier can be elected. The conditions have changed altogether since the civil war. Gen. Wood is an able man, and should have had a larger opportunity to show his merit in the late war; but no general can carry the soldier vote in these days.

Some man, not yet before the nation as a candidate, will doubtless be offered to us for our votes, and we shall elect him. But he must be able, unconnected with disputed policies, clean through and through, fitted to catch the imagination of the masses, hailing from a great state, with a mind which will not turn with every shifting of the public breeze—with a man who will command the respect of the world.

BREAD CHIEF WEAPON AGAINST HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Julius H. Barnes, U. S. Wheat Director, Urges Nation to Substitute Bread for Higher-Priced Foods.

"Substitute bread for higher-priced foods." This is the important food message that Julius H. Barnes, United States wheat director, is sending to the housewives of the nation. Bread is a highly nutritious, wholesome, and economical food and should be the chief weapon in the present war on table prices.

Director Barnes in his appeal to eat more bread, states that the flour consumption of America has fallen below normal, indicating that the people have displaced bread by higher-priced foods. By increasing the per capita consumption to 235 lbs. of flour, the nation would obtain more than one-third of its necessary food.

Director Barnes urges that housewives attack the high cost of living with greater bread consumption. The consequent reduction of demand for higher-priced foods will cut table costs materially and probably result in lowering the price of the other foods.

Although there has been a shrinkage in the estimated national wheat crop for 1919, it will supply us at home and sufficiently contribute to the food necessities of Europe, according to the wheat director. He said:

"There is a close adjustment between the total world bread requirement and the total bread grain supplies, but there is sufficient. Deliberate subsidy of food was not authorized by Congress in the wheat act. It is my conception of the study of Americanism that it desires to pay in its own self-respecting way, assured only of a market free from artificial influence and protected against abuse and extortion. The American housewife can, however, work out substantial relief in a natural way. The flour consumption of America fell from its normal of 235 pounds per capita to 171 pounds during the last year. This proves conclusively that bread, which is cheap and wholesome, was displaced in the diet by higher-priced foods. Two hundred and thirty-five pounds of flour per capita would furnish from 30 to 35 per cent. of the necessary food. The return to normal flour consumption and the consequent saving of higher priced foods, would work out an actual national saving for the year of $1,000,000,000 in the national food bill. Besides, the reduction of the strain on higher priced foods such as meats, eggs, butter, would by that very reduction of demand probably secure a lowering of the price level in those foods. Twelve million housewives administered their table during war-times with a war conscience. The same twelve million housewives today could greatly lighten the strain of living conditions by a similar development of social conscience."

The importance of bread as a food cannot be questioned. For centuries it has been the mainstay of all diet. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the noted food expert, emphasized the food qualities of bread by saying:

"There is more energy in a pound of bread than in a pound of meat."

Another famous medical man, Dr. Robert Hutchinson, F. R. C. R., stated that bread is the least watery of vegetable foods. "Weight is weight. Bread must be regarded as one of the most nutritious of all ordinary foods," said Dr. Hutchinson.

"This is due to the fact that three-fifths of it consists of solid nourishment. There is no animal foods and but few vegetables about which this can be said."

WORK IN FRANCE.

In Nov. 1918, the teachers and children of the Primary Dept. of the Arlington First Baptist S. S. collected $150. which they put into the hands of Capt. Harold L. Frost, who was just then leaving for France on his second trip as agricultural expert for the French government. They asked him to see that this sum was used for refugee work among the children.

A gratifying report has been recently received, giving details of the way in which the money was expended by the "Friends' War Victims Relief Committee," to whom it was entrusted by Captain Frost. The following is one of the letters received in acknowledgement:

Dear Mr. Frost:—I regret having been so long in getting to you any report regarding the way that money was spent which you turned over to me. Instead of putting it all in one spot, I thought your young contributors might be more interested if it was more or less divided. It was therefore turned over to two or three different workers. I enclose stories written by two of these workers showing that part of the money was spent in helping to nourish a boy named Henri Nicolas, and another part, for giving parties to French children who have known no such joys for a long, long time. I am hoping some photographs will be ready to enclose to you with this letter. If not, they will be sent to you under separate cover. There will also be some photographs showing the demountable huts or houses which our workers erect for the returned refugees. They are made in sections in a factory and then shipped to the destroyed villages and the sections are put together.

One very interesting incident occurred some time ago in regard to one of those huts. A little girl whose father had been killed in the war returned with her mother as a refugee to a village where these huts were being erected. The little girl asked her mother why they could not get our men to put up a hut for them, but the mother, not knowing that all of our workers were over here as volunteers without pay, and thinking the refugees had to pay for their huts, told the little girl that they could not afford to buy a hut and would have to continue living as they were, in one little room with a damaged roof, all that remained of their former home. The little girl, still longing for one of the wooden houses, came to our workers and, in her plaintive little voice, asked if she and her mother could not have one of the huts, and offered to pay what she could for it. All her worldly possessions were three sous (a sou, as you know, having about the value of our cent). You can perhaps guess what a pleasure it was to our men to be able to help that stricken mother and little girl!

I want to say how much we appreciate this contribution of yours, and I am sure it has done a great deal of good among the people needing help so much.

Hoping I may have the pleasure of seeing you in America some time, which I expect to see some time in August, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
MR. W. C. BIDDLE.

ARLINGTON TOWN MEETING.

It took the citizens assembled at the special town meeting, held last Monday evening, less than half an hour to dispose of the eight articles in the Warrant, make an appropriation for the purpose of raising the salaries of the educational force of the town, appoint a committee to look into the ways and means of furnishing more school accommodations and clean up the business contained in the warrant. Jacob Bitterer was chosen moderator; but before the articles in the Warrant were acted on, O. W. Whittemore, chairman of the Board of Assessors, presented a set of resolutions on the death of James M. Mead, a member of that board. The resolutions were read by Town Clerk Thomas J. Robinson and were adopted by a rising vote.

Frank A. O'Brien, chairman of the Finance Committee, under article two, recommended that the articles in the warrant be taken up in the order in which they appeared. Under article three, which was to see if the town would appoint a committee to investigate the question of the town carrying its own insurance, said committee to report at the March meeting, the moderator appointed James A. Bailey, S. Fred Hicks, Henry W. Hayden, Joseph C. Holmes and Charles W. Allen.

Article four was to see if the town would make an appropriation for school purposes, the same to be expended by the School Committee, to increase the salaries of the educational force of the town; also under this article the Finance Committee recommended that $15,500 be appropriated for this purpose, this amount to come out of the tax levy of 1920. It was the unanimous vote of the meeting to appropriate this sum.

Articles five, six and seven were taken up collectively, as all had bearing on the same subject. Article five was to see if the town would appoint a committee to procure plans and estimates for a school building on town land at the corner of Forest and Summer streets; article six to see if the town would appoint a committee to procure plans and estimates for a school building on town land adjacent to Fessenden road; article seven was to see if the town would appoint a committee to procure plans and estimates for an addition to the present Crosby school building. All these committees are to report at the annual town meeting in March. In connection with these articles the moderator was instructed to appoint a committee of fifteen to take charge of these matters, said committee to comprise residents of the four school districts.

Article eight was to see if the town would appoint a committee to investigate available sites for school house purposes in the Parmenter school district. The subject matter was referred to the committee alluded to above. In connection with these articles, the sum of $1150 was appropriated for the use of the committee under articles five, six, and seven, this to come out of the tax levy of 1920. Under article eight, $350 was appropriated for the use of the committee, this sum to be taken from an unexpended balance now in the hands of the School Committee.

CAPT. DANIEL E. HOWARD.
Post 36, G. A. R.

The flag on Grand Army Hall was at half mast on Monday morning because this honored and respected comrade had quietly passed over the dividing line between this life and the beyond, as the tired child drops to sleep. He was the dean of the Post, being in his 85th year, and though in feeble health for a considerable period, appeared as usual on Sunday. The deceased was the son of the Rev. Lewis and Sally (Stone) Howard and was born in Wantham, N. H., June 23, 1835. Capt. Howard married Miss Susan M. Patterson at Contocook, N. H., August 19, 1858.

During his long residence in Concord, N. H., he was prominent in public affairs and was one of the founders of the Baker Memorial M. E. church of that city. He was a well known church singer for many years. He was also a charter member and First Chancellor Commander of Concord Lodge, No. 8 Knight of Pythias. During the Civil war he served his country as captain of company D, 16th N. H., Vol. Inf., and made a fine record. Soon after coming to Arlington with his son Willis P., who has served Arlington for several years as Selectman, Capt. Howard transferred his membership in the G. A. R. to Post 36.

Capt. Howard is survived by an only son, Willis P. Howard, one grandson, Julian C. Howard, of Akron, Ohio, and his great grandchildren, Elinor and David Howard.

Funeral services were held at the home, 50 Fairview avenue, on Tuesday forenoon at 10:15, the religious service at which Rev. S. C. Bushnell officiated being supplemented by the committee service of the G. A. R., by commander B. W. Patten and chaplain Henry Clark, with comrades assisting. The burial was at Contocook, N. H., in the family lot.

The Collection of "Slow" Telephone Accounts

THE PURPOSE OF THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is to show that it is desirable to save the time and labor that is expended in collecting bills that remain unpaid after the lapse of a reasonable period of time.

BILLS ARE DUE when rendered on the first day of each month, and while most telephone accounts are paid promptly, there are a number of "slow" accounts that require labor, time and expense that might better be devoted to other work that is more directly in the interest of the public's telephone service.

WE BELIEVE that this method of bringing the matter to the attention of the public, this frank and open discussion of our aims, is all that is necessary to secure proper understanding and co-operation.

DR. MARTIN'S NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE TO HIS PEOPLE

Life on High Levels

A Daily Resolve for 1920

To talk with God before I talk with man. To do my daily work with sunshine in my face and honey on my tongue. To be strong in the presence of temptation; alert in the presence of opportunity; open-eared to the call of conscience for service or sacrifice; open-minded to views of truth which differ from mine. To make duty a joy and joy a duty. To work and not worry; to be energetic and not fussy. To be true to myself and false to no man; diligent to make a living and earnest to make a life. To cherish friendships and guard confidences. To be loyal to principle at the cost of popularity. To make no promises I cannot keep, and to keep no foolish promises. To be faithful to every honest obligation. To be sweet tempered under criticism, charitable in my judgments. To honor no one simply because he is rich. To despise no one simply because he is poor. To be respectful, not cringing, to the great; sympathetic with the sorrowing; gentle to the weak; helpful to the fallen; courteous to all. To be simple in my tastes; quiet in my dress; pure in my speech; temperate in my pastimes. To companion with great books; cherish inspiring thoughts; and to keep my body on friendly terms with water and fresh air. To fear nothing but sin; hate nothing but hypocrisy; envy nothing but a clean life; covet nothing but character. And at last to leave the world a little better for my stay; to face death without a tremor, with faith in Christ who tunneled the grave that I might walk into the larger and perfect life.

COPEY THEATRE.

The next play to be presented by Henry Jewett's Company at the Copley Theatre will be "Man and Superman," one of the most delightful comedies by G. Bernard Shaw, whose knowledge of men and manners gives him an admirable opportunity of introducing an interesting group of people into any play that he writes. "Man and Superman" made a distinct success when it was first seen in this country some years ago at which time Robert Loraine, an English actor, was seen in the part of John Tanner. In the Copley Theatre presentation of the play this part will be played by Noel Leslie, a youthful actor of splendid stage presence, who is pleasantly remembered as a member of Mr. Jewett's Company last season, but who has just rejoined the organization. "Man and Superman" abounds in rich humor and its development of plot through character is one of the interesting features of the play; then there is the battle of the sexes, and the conflict between candor and hypocrisy and these are elements that will rivet the attention of the audience.

In the printed edition Mr. Shaw calls his play "a comedy and a philosophy." It was originally published in 1903 and was first produced at a Vedrenne-Barker matinee in London in the spring of 1905, and was later given evening performances at the Court Theatre, London. It has been frequently done in the English capital since then. "Man and Superman" was played by Mr. Jewett's Company in January of 1917, and its performance was highly spoken of at that time.

NEWS FROM RUSSIA.

Friends of Mrs. Arthur F. Jackson of Honolulu (formerly Miss Margaret Tipper of Lexington) will be interested in the work of her husband, Dr. Jackson, who has been with the American Red Cross in Siberia. Dr. Jackson was located, through Jan. 1919, at Bchedu, Manchuria, where he was medical head of the American Red Cross Hospital, which was occupied by 106 tubercular Czech patients. When he left, the patients made a speech of thanks, in which they said: "Nearly all of us are worn out from the horrors of war, having been so many times disappointed, so many times betrayed. You, Dr. Jackson, and Dr. Ebersole, are doctors who give themselves up entirely to their patients. We are more than grateful to you for this. We respect you, we admire you, we are proud to think that you belong to such a great country whose president has opened to us the gates of Freedom."

The first of February Dr. Jackson was appointed "Physician in charge giving expert advice and directing everything medical," on the anti-typus train. The purpose of this train, to quote from the doctor's letter was, "to visit all the posts and garrisons of the British, French, Italian and Czech armies in Siberia, supply them with whatever supplies and medical stores they need for combatting typhus, primarily; advise them and assist in establishing isolation wards or special isolation hospitals for typhus; give the men a bath and clean clothes and delouse and clean up the quarters and surroundings. To accomplish this, we have a train of 24 cars, with underwear, blankets, etc. We have 30,000 suits of underwear, 14,400 pairs of socks, 6,500 flannel shirts, 10,000 yards of flannelette for foot-clothes, (substitutes for socks). There are two cars with about 7,000 blankets, a car-load of soap, soda and sulphur for washing and fumigating, and three cars of drugs, hot-water bags, etc. We have several specially constructed cars, as follows:—A tank car, a boiler car, sterilizing car, (to sterilize people's clothes while they are bathing), an undressing car, three bath cars with hot and cold water showers, and a dressing car."

Several of the personnel were victims of typhus, which made matters very trying. Dr. Jackson reached Omsk on May 3, where he was appointed medical director of western Siberia in addition to being medical head of the American Red Cross hospital at Omsk. To quote from a letter, "We are now taking into the hospital between 900 and 1,000 patients, mostly wounded Russian soldiers. We have ten doctors, nine Russian doctors and myself, one American dentist, thirty-five Russian and eighteen American nurses. The office work is done by Czechs, of whom there are sixteen, doing office work and heading different departments to control the Austrian and German prisoner of war labor. We have 270 prisoners of war in the employ of the hospital as orderlies, laundry men, laborers, tailors, tinsmiths, cooks, carpenters, etc., being Czechs. Our blacksmith and tin shop make all kinds of surgical apparatus,—tin cups, trays, bowls, candle-sticks, etc., out of old pineapple cans and kerosene and gasoline tins."

In August, 1919, the Bolsheviks were advancing toward Omsk and there was danger of Omsk's falling into their hands. "We sent all American women down the line about August 9th, and reduced slightly the capacity of our hospital, continuing with Russian orderlies. I stayed and we did not evacuate the hospital for several reasons: (1) The moral effect of the American Hospital evacuating would have been very bad for the Government, although two of the departments did evacuate. If the Siberian troops were really going to brace up and fight, such a hospital as ours would be needed here more than ever and to fall them at the critical moment would not have pleased me."

To quote from a Honolulu paper—"Dr. Jackson's work in Siberia has been and is so magnificent that it should be known to every resident of Honolulu," said General Jack (head of the British railway mission to Siberia). He took charge of a 1,000 bed Red Cross Hospital at Omsk when it had to be evacuated because of the Bolshevik successes. The entire Red Cross contingent of the hospital had to leave, but Dr. Jackson remained at his post and did magnificent work, disregarding all personal danger. It is my opinion that the American Red Cross is doing the best work of any allied relief organization in Siberia today."

Should Women be put on trial for their faults?

Should women be put on trial for their faults? And should they be tried by men? Are their so-called weaknesses due to the mediocre demands of men? Do women know how to stick to ideals that are not social assets? What is the type of girl that invariably becomes an old maid? Do men put a premium on virtue?

These are a few of the questions that are discussed and answered in a tremendously stimulating article called "Supply and Demand." Every woman in America owes it to herself to read it.

This is but one of the 38 stimulating and amusing features in this big magazine.

GEN. WOOD'S VISIT.

In a general way, Gen. Leonard Wood was the guest of the city of Boston last Saturday and Sunday, although his special mission was to deliver his address, "One Hundred Per Cent Americanism," before Back Bay Post 117, American Legion. He accepted courtesies at the hands of Mayor Peters and had among his audience at Old South Meeting House, Gov. Coolidge and others filling high stations.

During his visit he was the guest also of the Algonquin Club. At this place, as well as in his formal address, he made it plain that the dominant issue in this country just now is "Law and order and respect for constitutional authority;" also, that the best way to prevent war is to be prepared for it. Although barred by his uniform from officially appearing as a candidate, Gen. Wood said about everything a candidate could, avoiding only reference to the various inefficiencies of the Wilson administration.

MID COUNTRY WATERWAY.

Permit for construction of the Illinois waterway, which will open to commerce 15,000 miles of rivers and connect Chicago with New Orleans, was received by Governor Lowden of Illinois last week from the War Department. The $20,000,000 project includes improvement of the Desplaines and Illinois rivers between Lockport and Utica.

Besides connecting Chicago with the Gulf it will provide a water route from the Great Lakes to St. Paul, Minn. A short route from the Illinois River to Rock Island and Davenport, Iowa, also will give Chicago direct water connection with Pittsburgh and Ohio cities. There will be a return to Illinois from the water power of approximately $1,000,000 a year, and a saving of 500,000 tons of coal annually.

Actual construction will be started soon, much preliminary engineering work having been done. Locks will be 600 feet long, 110 feet wide, accomodating fleets of barge type boats carrying 6500 to 8000 tons of freight.

GOOD WORK.

The Assistant District Attorney, Stanley Harvey, who was delegated by District Attorney Tufts to handle the investigation into the methods of the various auto thieves, has made a report to Judge O'Connell of the Superior Court who is presiding at the present session at East Cambridge. As the result of the work done under the direction of Mr. Harvey, some two hundred indictments have been returned by the Grand Jury. These indictments are against 135 persons, of whom 106 have been arrested. The police are looking for 29 others. Fines amounting to $1,800 have been imposed and expenses totalling $624 paid. Restitution to the extent of $2900 has been made by various defendants. The police have recovered seventy-five cars, the average value of which is $800, or a total of $60,000. A large number of the defendants have been brought into court and punishment ranging from state's prison sentence to heavy fines have been inflicted.

JOHN BARLEYCORN BURIED.

For two or three weeks prior to Jan. 16, when constitutional prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors became effective, the Boston dailies had considerable to say of plans on the part of cafe owners and others having similar or kindred interests to "make a night of it"—a sort of final carousal. The day came and the night also, but not the carousal. The empty tables in hotel dining rooms and in popular restaurants were a damper on the enthusiasm of the most optimistic of those who thought by a public demonstration to cast some sort of odium on this "interference with personal liberty."

Nothing that could have occurred, by any possibility, would have more clearly demonstrated that the law as it now stands expresses the matured opinion of the great bulk of the American peoples, for what was found to be the case in Boston was equally true of nearly every large city of the country.

The knell of John Barleycorn was sounded with the edict from Washington that a six mile prohibitory zone should be thrown around every cantonment where the flower of our country was in training for service in the great war. It was then that thousands of men and women not before interested enough to seriously consider, saw the evil thing in its true light. The cost of that war was awful, both in young manhood and in money, but if, as it now seems likely, it led to the cancelling of that three billion annual drink bill of this country, it will have some element of compensation.

BOARDING THE BIRDS.

This winter the birds have joined the bread-line. It is not on account of the height of the cost of living,—but because of the depth of the recent snowfall. A bird's expense account does not increase from season to season, not even when raising a family. Shelter is always obtainable, fuel is not an item, clothing is free, and there are no profiteers to raise rents. But incomes (speaking in food values) shrink tremendously when winter hoards his scanty provider in cold storage. The erstwhile self-supporting songsters or chirpsters are then forced to accept the ministrations of charity.

Certain thoughtful persons every year make provision for the needs of their feathered friends. Crumbs and grains are scattered upon the ground and slices of suet are dangled from the limbs of trees. But the thoughtless (they are the more numerous) spread no board. Usually there is an insufficiency of supply.

This winter it is somewhat different. The Great War taught the necessity of organization for the purposes of collection and distribution of food for needy humans. The lesson learned has been applied to the case of the birds in a least our town. Arlington is taking care of its aerial population. The Tree Warden is caterer, and under his supervision open-air restaurants are provided. In the woods, under shelters built to prevent its being covered by drifting snow, food is spread. His assistants, like a corps of waiters, go through the streets bearing baskets of bread scraps which they cast upon the snow as a sower scatters seed upon newly ploughed soil.

It is a wise and kindly action for which the birds, if they could, no doubt would give thanks.

J. R. KEENAN.

HELP THE GIRL SCOUTS.

Give a dollar to keep your daughter from growing up a doll; to promote a sane, reasonable, attempt to better the younger generations by perfecting the future "mothers of men."

During the week January of 27 to 31 inclusive, a campaign will be waged in Lexington as well as throughout the country to raise funds and obtain recognition for the Girl Scouts of America. The movement is sponsored by prominent men and women in the country and is founded on the same firm responsible basis as the Boy Scouts, with the same general aims and purposes, adapted to the girls.

Briefly the salient points in the movement are:—Recreation in a way to appeal to girls from 10 to 16 years of age, grouped in congenial sections under separate leaders. Healthy, active life in the open, including practical camping; household economics; teaching patriotism; character building,—these are the basal principles. It is wholly non-sectarian, non-class, and is absolutely democratic. If an inexpensive uniform, a few, simple, impressive little ceremonies, and the feeling of "her own club," can hold and interest a growing girl so that, through friendly competition she builds up her physical strength, her patriotic ideals and a practical training for house-wifery and motherhood—is it too much to expect that everyone interested in the American Girl should get behind the organization that is accomplishing these vital and long-wished for results?

Mr. S. Lewis Barbour is interested in establishing troops of Girl Scouts in Lexington, at his request and in full sympathy with his purpose, we present the above facts for consideration with the hope of awakening wide interest. To adequately finance this movement, one dollar subscriptions are solicited from every one interested. Solicitors will canvass the town, but if any are overlooked or do not care to wait to be asked to help, send the one dollar to Mrs. Robert L. Ryder, 108 Maple street, Lexington, and the same will be promptly and gratefully acknowledged.

There is a wide circle outside the Mass. Inst. of Technology that joins with that great institution in mourning over the death of Richard C. Maclaurin, its honored head. Coming as it did in the midst of rejoicing over accomplishment of a drive to raise a gigantic endowment fund, it cast a shadow of gloom over all. But in spite of this event, the great institution will go on, strengthened and broadened in its scope by the work of the deceased that will lighten the burden to rest on the shoulders of his successor. The attendance at the simple but impressive funeral service on Sunday, was a testimony to his worth. It followed the laying of the body in state in the main entrance hall of M. I. T. where great numbers bade farewell to the man who had given of his talent and strength without stint. The interment was in the tomb at Mt. Auburn.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS.

January has certainly given us a "spell of weather," so far this month.

Reports from Washington are to the effect that President Wilson is steadily improving in health.

Nantucket was once more cut off from the outside world by ice accumulating at the entry port this week.

Storms on the ocean during last week and this, have resulted in marine disasters to many vessels but few lives have been sacrificed.

It is estimated that banks have loaned over twenty million dollars on liquors held in bond. It is proposed that the U. S. Government assume this burden.

The drive of the Yankee Division for a fund of $200,000 was a success. Late additions after the drive closed brought the fund to the total required.

A formal demand for the person of the Ex-Kaiser of Germany has been made by the Allies. The report is that the Dutch government will decline to comply.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

Mrs. John Phillips has been confined to her home for the past week with a serious cold.

At a meeting of the Park Avenue Congregational Sunday school teachers, Tuesday evening, those holding office were re-elected for the ensuing year. Routine business was transacted.

The annual re-union of the members of St. James church, Arlington Heights, is being held in the Town Hall this (Friday) evening and an interesting program will be presented.

"Ed." Powell son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Powell, held a coasting party on Saturday night which was much enjoyed by many friends of this, as well as the downtown or "center" section, as it is called. Refreshments and dancing rounded out the evening.

An adjourned session of the Fourth Quarterly Conference was held on Sunday evening at the Methodist church. It was the most largely attended meeting of the official board for some time, fourteen being present. As the board, and in fact the entire church, are highly in sympathy with the work of the pastor, Rev. E. R. Leach, it was unanimously voted that he should be returned to this pastorate another year.

Considering the unusual cold and stormy weather, there was a good attendance at the Sunday morning service of the Methodist church, when Dr. J. Franklin Knott of Washington, D. C., assistant chancellor of the American University, gave an interesting talk. After this service the ways and means committee met and discussed plans for next Sunday, Jan. 25, when the new church fund campaign will be started. Members will be informed of these plans by letter or card. At half-past six on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening of next week, a supper will be served the solicitors.

A most successful meeting of the Friday Social Club occurred January 16th, at the home of Mrs. Herbert A. Snow. About forty-five members (including twelve new ones) were present. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Edmund Byram, president of the club, in her usual accomplished manner. Interest centered about the Mother Goose social to be held this (Friday) evening at Park Avenue Congregational church. The affair is in charge of the social committee. Mrs. Frederick Brackett, chairman; Mrs. John M. Phillips, Mrs. Clarence Coolidge, Mrs. Charles Holmes, Mrs. Charles Harvey, Mrs. Geo. Lloyd. The entertainment is under the direction of Mrs. Luther Sherman. Every one who can, please attend in Mother Goose costume; but if you are without such a costume, do not allow it to prevent your enjoying a pleasure-filled evening. After the routine business had been transacted, a social hour followed. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Snow, assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Thomas, Mrs. William Buntion, Miss May Bridgman, Miss Susanna Haskell.

As a supplement to our report of the mid-winter musical of the Arlington Heights Study Club, we append a full account of the program, which was one of unusual interest, and is as follows: Trio, "Souvenir de Venise" Quinn; "Love Song," Nevin; piano solo, "Polonaise;" "Moto Perpetuo," MacDowell, vocal solos, "By the Waters of the Minnetonka" Lieurance; "From the land of the sky blue water," Cadman; "An open secret," Woodman; cello solos, "Gavotte," Hadley; "To a Wild Rose," MacDowell; Trio, "Melodie in G. flat" Cadman; "Bluettes," Sanford. One of the most interesting numbers on the program was reading selections by Mrs. Walter Vaughn, "Biography of Sidney Lanier" and "Extracts from his poem 'Symphony'." Sidney Lanier is an American musician poet of whose genius Americans may well be proud. As his works are more widely recognized and known, their influence will be felt. He was born in Georgia in 1842. While yet a boy he had mastered the flute, organ, piano, guitar and banjo. In deference to his father's wishes, he devoted himself to the flute, although he passionately loved the violin, being able to obtain wonderful violin effects from the flute. He was in service with the Confederate army from 1861-65 and passed away from the effects of consumption contracted while in the army. To show the beauty of his poetry, the following extract from his "Symphony" is given:

"A velvet flute-note fell down pleasantly, Upon the bosom of that harmony And sailed and sailed incessantly As if a petal from a wild rose blown. Had fluttered down upon that pool of tone. Somewhat half song, half out forth did float As if a rose might somehow be a throat."

The meeting closed with the singing of "America the Beautiful," followed by a social hour with refreshments.

Mrs. Frank W. Garrett was hostess at a beautiful reception given at her home Wednesday afternoon, from three to five, in honor of Mrs. Clarence Gale of Wollaston avenue, who left the following day for her new home in Belmont. Hosts of friends at the Heights will regret the departure of the Gale family and their two charming daughters will be greatly missed. Mrs. Garrett's artistic home was a fine setting for this most delightful gathering of the Heights.

ladies. The soft glow of candle light were ensconced in the dining room, where the color scheme was pink and white, carried out with sweet peas and fressia, with potted plants here and there. Those who assisted in the dining room were Mrs. James Dow, Mrs. Oscar Schnetzer, Mrs. Walter Vaughn, Mrs. Robert Meikle, Mrs. Harry Stinson, Miss Alice Kendall served frappe. Mrs. Garrett was assisted in the reception room by Mrs. Paul White, Mrs. Harry Tinkham, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. Clarence Coolidge, Mrs. Herbert Snow, Mrs. Edmund Byram.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Roop of 32 Paul Revere road, Arlington Hts, announce the engagement of their daughter Helen Grace to Mr. Frederick Robinson Stevens of Lexington.

Large congregations literally packed Park Avenue Congregational church both morning and evening last Sunday. Those who braved the blizzard in the morning felt well repaid when it was announced from the pulpit that Rev. John M. Phillips had decided to retain his pastorate for another year. This announcement was greeted with enthusiastic applause. The solos rendered by Mr. Bodwell and Mr. Evans were especially fine. A large congregation in the evening listened to a fine sermon and stirring music by the young people's choir.

O. B. C. ACTIVITIES.

The next open night is listed for Friday evening, Feb. 6th.

The big event of the week at the club will be the annual dramatics in the club hall, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

All had a grand good time at the open night in the club, last Friday evening, with all indoor sports, including dancing, going full blast.

On the club alleys, the East Siders bowl the West siders this Friday evening, in the series to determine the geographical centre of the town.

The largest spring bowling tournament in the history of the club has just started on the club alleys, with no less than ninety-six men and women entered. There are sixteen teams and there will be league bowling several evenings each week, the tournament extending nearly through April. In this tournament members may qualify for the president's cup special match.

With its usual generosity and desire to satisfy the various inclinations represented by its large membership, the Old Belfry Club is giving for all the older children of its members, a dancing party, Saturday afternoon, January 31, from 4 to 6 o'clock. The age limit for the children and their guests is from 12 to 17 years, and guest tickets may be obtained according to Club rules. There will be a door committee from the younger set of Club members who will see to it that the children have a good time. Mrs. Bowers, who gave so much pleasure at the last open night with her spirited music and interesting novelties, will preside at the piano. It seems a happy inspiration of the Old Belfry Club to thus bring together the children of its members so many of whom are past the dancing age and need just this association which these little gatherings afford to fit them for desirable club members later. The fathers and mothers in the Club will be interested to know that if this party meets with their approval and merits a repetition, it will be followed by one or possibly two more later in the season and may eventually become a Club feature, thus reaching each succeeding group of children.

OLD ADAMS SCHOOL BURNED.

Thirty five boys and girls of the lower grades were guided from the second floor of their school to the lower yard by a clever ruse of their two teachers, about 1 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, not knowing that the building (the old Adams Grammar school) in which they were enjoying their noon-day lunch, was on fire, until the little ones had all safely fled out into the frigid air.

It was then they saw that the building was burning. One of the school boys, returning for the afternoon session, saw smoke issuing from the roof of the building and told Miss Helen Hannon, one of the teachers then on her way to the school. Miss Hannon went quietly upstairs to the lunch room on the second floor and told Miss Harriet Foss, the teacher in charge of the pupils, that the building was on fire. The children then were led into the school yard.

Miss Katherine T. Gregory, principal of the Adams school, came over to assist and with the two teachers of the school, directed some of the older boys in removing the children's wraps, books, and everything removable, with the result that everything, even including the color guard uniforms and rifles, was saved. Miss Gregory was much pleased and impressed by the orderly way in which the pupils conducted themselves. The children of the burned school, numbering about sixty, went over to the new building and were put in class rooms with the children of their own grades there. It was gratifying to see how these children went right to work at the stroke of the bell calling the classes to order, as if nothing had happened.

John Sawyer, the janitor, emptied an extinguisher on the fire in an effort to stay the flames, which apparently started in the other side of the building from the lunch room from an overheated furnace or defective chimney. The fire worked up through the partitions and into a blind attic, where it burned through the roof in a number of places before it was extinguished. The entire Lexington fire department responded to an alarm and the apparatus made a quick run to the fire, despite the deep snow. The three motor trucks and a pung with hose responded. Three streams of water and chemical streams were played on the fire, and the firemen are to be given credit in making such a good stop of the fire. The school is a two-story wooden structure, as dry as tinder. While fighting the fire on the roof, Charles Callahan, a fireman connected with the central fire station, was slightly cut on the face. This school has been used this year as an overflow, and in the building two rooms were in use, one as a combination second and third grade and the other as a combination fifth and sixth grade.

The damage to the building is estimated at several thousand dollars. Work will start at once in repairing the school.

Meanwhile Dr. Potter will be engaged in settling the new home purchased by him last week, at 103 Jason street, the house recently occupied by the Misses Hemmingway. His pastorate and friends may get Dr. Potter on the phone at his new residence, mornings and evenings.

—The sixth annual banquet of the Arlington Associates was held in the Board of Trade building, Thursday evening, Jan. 15. The meeting was an interesting one to the members and much business was taken up. John A. Bishop was the presiding officer and during the evening speeches were made by a large number of those attending. The officers for the coming year were elected as follows: —John A. Bishop, president; James P. Donnelly, vice-president; Frank J. Lowder, secretary; Daniel F. Ahern, treasurer; Thomas J. Donnelly, Timothy F. Collins and Martin J. Gallagher, trustees; Henry J. —The Community Club of Arlington completed its first half of the bowling series last Friday night, on the Arlington Alleys, the prizes being awarded and arrangements made for reorganizing each team and making changes for the remainder of the season. Team One was awarded the first prize for the high total for the season, having a total of 17826 pins for the 45 strings. For the average for the season the race was a close one, three players having a close run. The games resulted in Team Three winning four points from Team Four, Team Five winning four points from Team Two and Team Six winning three points from Team One.

—The Middlesex Sportsman's association directors and committees held their regular monthly meeting Thursday evening January 15 at Camp Yousay, Arlington, with President Reading in the chair. Supper was served at 6:30, and the business meeting followed. It was decided to hold the annual meeting at the Boston City Club on Wednesday evening, March 10, when William Finley, game commissioner of Oregon, will deliver an illustrated lecture, said to be the finest lecture on fish and game ever presented. There will be an orchestra and other entertainment. In April, at Arlington Town Hall, Frank Branch Riley, of Oregon, is to deliver his famous illustrated lecture before members and their lady friends. In May an association meeting is planned to be held in Somerville. The directors considered the question of providing Game Commissioner Goodwin with an automobile, but the matter was left for final action until the next meeting. Thirty-seven new members were admitted. Previous to the business meeting about 20 members of the board enjoyed a supper.

—In the Knights of Columbus—A. O. H. series for the town 45 championship, played in Hibernian Hall last evening the K. of C. players again took the lead and are now leading by ten games. Coming into last night the A. O. H. players had a lead of four games. Last night's games make the total games played to date of 2700. In the contests last night the K. of C. won 157 games and A. O. H. 143, making the total of each team to date, K. of C., 1355 and A. O. H. 1345. The results as follows: —McGowan and Shea, K. of C., beat Cadigan and Kelley, A. O. H., 14 to 11; G. White and D. O'Brien K. of C., beat D. Keefe and J. McCarthy, A. O. H., 14 to 11; Savage and T. Ahern, K. of C., beat Brady and McCarthy, A. O. H., 14 to 11; Green and W. Canniff, A. O. T. Geary, K. of C., beat Brickley and Nixon, A. O. H., 13 to 12.

—Dr. F. Holden Smith has announced his candidacy for the office of a member of the Board of Health. Alfred H. Knowles, a member of that board, retiring from office this year.

—The open meeting of Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, scheduled for last Sunday afternoon, was cancelled, owing to the death of James M. Mead, a past Grand Knight of the council.

—In an exhibition five string match on the Arlington Alleys, last Friday night, Gangle and Whalen of Cambridge gave a good exhibition. Whalen won out by 32 pins, his total being 540 against 508 by his opponent.

—On Saturday evening the Knights of Columbus basketball team went to Winchester to play a return game with the K. of C. team of that town. The game was fast and resulted in a victory for Arlington by a score of 20 to 10.

—Saturday evening the firemen were called out for a fire in the cellar of the home of William A. McLean on Kensington road, caused by some hot ashes setting fire to a box in which they had been placed. The damage was slight.

—The Arlington Historical society will meet in the vestry of the First Parish church, on Monday, Jan. 26, at eight o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Edward C. Turner will be the speaker her subject being "The Story of a Hero of the Merchant Marine service of the past."

—The Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's parish will meet in the Parish House, next Monday afternoon, Jan. 26, at 2 o'clock, for sewing. At 3 o'clock an address on "Haiti," will be given by Mrs. John Hurd, to be followed by a social hour. All women are cordially invited.

—Invitations have been issued for the annual ladies' night of Arlington Men's Club. It will occur on the evening of February 9 and will include a banquet at 7 o'clock in the vestry of the Orthodox Congregational church, and a lecture at 8 o'clock in the auditorium by Byron William Reed, A. B., LL. B., Porto Rico, "the Emerald of the Antilles," is to be the subject, which will be illustrated with numerous slides and illuminated by music on rare native instruments of which Mr. Reed has secured a large variety. To this latter feature of this "ladies night," the general public is cordially invited.

—On Sunday the firemen were called out twice, the first being for a fire in the cellar of the home of John J. Donahue on Brattle street, caused, it is thought, from a spark from the chimney which set fire to some material piled on the floor. The damage to the house was slight, but Mrs. Donahue had many of her winter's preserves ruined by the blaze. In the evening a fire was discovered in the squash house on the Ira Russell farm. A stove is used in this building to prevent freezing and it is believed that the stove got overheated, setting fire to the wood work. The fire was extinguished before any great amount of damage resulted.

—Present conditions are making it hard for the birds to get anything to eat and a plea for them has been sent out. Householders could help quite a little by throwing out bread crumbs or the like and those living near wooded areas would do a great act of charity and kindness if they made a little sacrifice and put feed out in covers where the birds come to feed. On Monday tree Warden Daniel M. Daley made a trip to the wooded sections and made covers in which he placed some grain. This will not last long and all who can should try and help out our feathered friends and encourage them to stay with us.

—George Nelson of Agassiz Museum was the guest of the Mystic Side Improvement Association, at a special meeting held on Saturday evening, at the home of Willard Patch, 35 Draper avenue. The members of the association had their wives as special guests and all enjoyed a stereopticon lecture by Mr. Nelson, who took the party, by the aid of pictures, to Florida and gave them a wonderful talk on birds, flowers and outdoor life, nature subjects being his topic. The lecturer answered many questions at the close of his talk. The evening was rounded out with a social hour, a collation being served by N. J. Hardy.

—Car service was way off schedule on Saturday, owing to the snow storm of Friday night. The Bay State road was run only once in a while and many patrons had to walk. The Boston Elevated made an effort to keep its cars running, but did not meet with any great degree of success. On Saturday morning the early inward bound steam cars were off schedule, the train due to leave here at 8:08 having met with a mishap at Bedford, the engine going off the track; and the train due to leave here at 8:41 having been a half hour late at Bedford, taking on the passengers of the derailed train, and losing steam at North Lexington, where a delay was made in order to let the firemen coal up, getting into Boston over an hour late.

—The regular meeting of the Women's Mission and Social Union of First Baptist church was held on the afternoon of Monday, Jan. 12. The usual opening exercises were followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. William Brooks. The treasurer reported two hundred and twenty-eight dollars pledged for the Jubilee fund. The program was on medical missions connected with China and India, in charge of Miss Olsen, who was assisted by Mrs. Patruquin, Mrs. Richardson, Miss Bullock, Mrs. Clare. A request was made that some of the foreign students now attending Wellesley college be entertained by the ladies at their homes. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed, with Mrs. Herbert J. Munroe and Mrs. Charles H. Higgins as hostesses.

there was quite a stir at the Heights car barns, owing to the fact that a motorman would not take the car out because it was cold. This caused a tie up of over half an hour and then the cars came down the avenue in bunches. All along the line crowds of passengers stood in freezing atmosphere, waiting patiently for a car to come along. On Wednesday morning there was another tie-up of about three quarters of an hour due to motor boxes being out of order. The motor boxes have been dragging in the snow ever since the snow fall and had there been about two inches more of snow it would no doubt have put the whole line out of commission. A few snow plows were out, but in the middle of the day when the snow had softened up and could be easily scraped off, the plows were no where in sight.

MRS. FRANCIS L. FROST
DECEASED.

Almira Jane, widow of Francis S. Frost, died Tuesday morning, Jan. 20, at the home of her grandson, Walter F. Cook, Pleasant street, Melrose. Had Mrs. Frost lived until the 29 of January, she would have been eighty-eight years old. Last winter she closed her home on Mass. avenue, where she had lived for many years, and went to reside with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Phinney of Gray street. She has also spent part of the year with her youngest daughter, Mrs. George H. Chubbuck (Maudie Frost) in Roxbury.

In the early fall she went to Melrose to reside with the family of her grandson. Her health has gradually failed although she was about the home until a week previous to her death, when complications developed. The end came suddenly.

The deceased was the daughter of Joseph and Mary Frost Teel. Most of her life has been lived in Arlington and here, first surrounded by her children, she has been very happy. She was a home lover in every sense of the word. A woman of strong personality and feeling, her greatest happiness was in doing for those near and dear to her. Her husband a respected and generous citizen of this town and a well known Boston business man, was deceased some eight years ago.

The funeral was held Thursday, at 2 o'clock at Mt. Auburn chapel. The devotional services were conducted by Rev. Frederic Gill, minister of the First Parish (Unitarian) church of Arlington. The interment was in the family lot in Mt. Auburn cemetery. Besides the children referred to, the deceased is survived by one other daughter, Mrs. Annie Cook, of Arlington. The older daughter, Mrs. Louise Lane, passed away last May. There are five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

BOY SCOUT NEWS.

Plans are well under way for the Anniversary Rally that will be held at the Hemenway Gymnasium on Friday evening, February 13, 1920. Permission has been given to the Cambridge Council for the use of this Gymnasium for Friday evening, Feb. 6th, for a practice rally and an interesting program of games and scout work will be given on the night of the rally. It will be in the form of troop competition and it is expected that it will prove a very interesting event for all. Parents and friends of Scouts are urged to attend and make this evening an Anniversary Scout night.

In addition to the Scout activities, there will be one or two good speakers from the National Headquarters of Scouting who will bring an anniversary message to the boys of Cambridge and Arlington.

The stormy weather of January 17th broke up the well planned hike to Quincy of the boys of Cambridge and Arlington. About seventeen of the most courageous of the boys carried out their plans for the day even after the hike had been cancelled by the Scout Executive. They were welcomed to Quincy by Scout Executive Severance who gave them a most excellent outing and from all reports the boys were very glad that they went even though the weather was not the best. Scout Executive Evans plans to make arrangements to carry this hike out as formerly in two or three weeks. As soon as arrangements are made, the Scouts who desired to go on the trip on January 17th will be notified.

Troop One of Arlington continue to meet at their fine new headquarters in the Arlington High school gymnasium. During the game period of last week, Scoutmaster Forbes divided the troop into four different basketball teams and had a very interesting game period of half an hour. This troop expects to be able to challenge any other troop of Greater Boston to a basketball game in the near future. Any teams desiring to play against Troop One of Arlington notify Scout Executive Evans of Cambridge.

RED CROSS NOTES.

The Red Cross will meet on Tuesday, as usual, in the Town Hall. The sewing will be finished on Tuesday, Feb. 3, and the work room will be closed after that date.

The knitting will continue indefinitely. In addition to the knitting for the war stricken countries, people are asked to make long sleeved sweaters and helmets for returned service men suffering from tuberculosis.

There were 117 garments made and sent into headquarters last month also 76 knitted articles.

We now have 2780 Red Cross members. Let us endeavor never to let the membership fall below this figure, but strive rather to increase it from year to year.

William A. Muller, chairman of the last drive, reported $1712.03 collected for the National Red Cross. To this sum should be added the $1000 contributed by the branch last spring for National headquarters.

The Red Cross magazine is now being handled separately from the Red Cross memberships, therefore the Metropolitan Chapter will no longer send out bills for magazine subscription renewals. In the future, all correspondence concerning subscriptions renewals or complaints of non-receipt of the magazine, should be addressed to Red Cross Magazine Circulation Dept. 124 E. 28th street New York City.

A very pleasant note was received from Miss Blanche Heard in response to the letter written by the secretary, Mrs. F. V. Noyes, expressing the sympathy of the Red Cross workers for Miss Heard in her recent illness and hopes for her speedy recovery.

Attention was drawn to the Free Illustrated Lecture upon the Training, Rest and Battle Areas of the Yankee Division in France and the Victory Parade in Paris July 14th, to be given in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, by Mr. Walter A. Robbins Sunday evening, Feb. 8th, at 8 o'clock.
